Covenants

When transcribing a covenant, include any typos or misspellings in the deed. (Don't correct them.)

Examples of DC Covenants

the above-described property, and no part thereof, shall ever be sold, transferred, leased, rented to nor occupied by any negro or person of African blood said property shall never be rented, leased, sold or conveyed to or in trust for any negro or colored person, or person of negro blood or extraction, nor used as a place of business or abode by such persons

no part of the above described land and premises shall be used or occupied by any negro or negroes, or person or persons of the negro race or blood, as a place of abode or residence, but such covenant shall not prevent such person or persons of the negro race or blood from being employed in and about the land and premises or from having access thereto for the conduct of business thereon on discharging the duties of his or their employment

the above-described property and no part thereof, shall ever be sold, transferred, leased, rented to nor occupied by any negro or person of African blood said property shall never be used or occupied by, or sold, demised, transferred, conveyed unto or in trust for, leased or rented, or given to negroes or any person or persons of negro blood or extraction or to any person of the Semitic race, blood or origin, or Jews, Armenians, Hebrews, Persians Syrians, except that this paragraph shall not be held to exclude partial occupancy of the premises by domestic servants of any owners of the said property.

Geographic Information

For most deeds, the first option (1 or more lots in a single square) will be the correct one.

The Liber and Folio numbers often listed in the property descriptions relate to hard-copy documents. Please ignore them.

Lot, Square, and Subdivision

If there are multiple lots, list them like this: 1,2,3,4,5 (no spaces).

We're counting partial lots, e.g. "the front half of lot 3," as full lots, so this should be entered simply as 3.

Sometimes the lot and square numbers are buried within long paragraphs. For example: "... known and distinguished as Lot numbered Twenty-eight (28) in Harry Wardman and Thomas P. Bones' subdivision of Lots in Block numbered Eleven (11), "High View", as per plat recorded in the Office of the Surveyor for the District of Columbia in Liber 43 at folio 147; said Block numbered Eleven (11) being known for purposes of taxation and assessment as Square numbered Thirty-five Hundred and Thirty-five (3535).....

In the above case, the lot is 28, and the square is 3535.

Sometimes, after a long, complicated description of the property, a sentence will appear containing the needed information: Said property now known for purposes of taxation as Lot 80 in Square 5989.

A square described as "Square South of Square 6223" should be entered as 6223S.

For our purposes, the "subdivision" is always DC (and nothing more). Ignore references to names such as "High View" in the above property description.

Seller and Buyer

The name of the seller is almost always followed by the term "party of the first part."

The name of the buyer is almost always followed by the term "party of the second part."

Transcribe two names like this: John E. Smith and Mary P. Smith, or you can separate the names by commas. (It's okay to correct obvious typos in the names.)

If more than two names are listed, include only the first two.

If the first page of the deed is missing, you can sometimes find the seller's name on the last page, near the signatures.

If you can't find the information, leave the fields blank.

Date

The date is in the first sentence of the deed. It is the date the deed was "made" and not the recording date.

If the first page is missing, you can sometimes find the date on the last page, near the signatures.

If you can't find a date, use 1 January 1970.
